

GALACTICOMM

Over 75 add-on options are now available for
The Major BBS!

March 19, 1991

Dear Sysop,

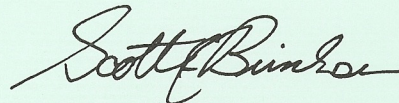

Could you use a multi-user database? Or maybe a full-screen editor? Or a myriad of other features for your BBS? Our new catalog of add-on software is hot off the presses, and it's bigger than ever. With descriptions of more than 75 add-on products from over 10 different companies, it offers a diverse collection of business and entertainment.

As a result of the merger with Galactic Innovations, Inc., Galacticomm has acquired its own line of add-on products including The Major Database, Search and Retrieve, and the Dial-Out facility. New releases include a full-screen editor and FAZUUL, an incredible multi-player game by Tim Stryker. Combined with all the third-party options, you can tailor your system to your exact needs without doing any programming. Please take a few moments to browse through this catalog – you might find just what you need!

To install many of these add-ons, you will need the C source code to the BBS and the C source extensions of any extended editions you own. If you're running a relatively small-scale system, you can use Turbo C 2.0 or 2.01 to link these add-ons into your BBS. If your requirements are more advanced, there's dozens of possible ways to expand – call for details. Alternatively, Galacticomm or Prostar Software (voice: 206-946-0579) can integrate add-ons for you.

And remember, as a Galacticomm customer, you're entitled to free, unlimited tech support (within reason). Marcy, Helen, Ron, Les, Rich, Ed, Rob, Chris, Aaron, Bob and myself are ready to take your orders or answer any questions. We hope to hear from you!

Sincerely,

Scott J. Brinker
Vice President

P.S. You can call our own for-profit entertainment system, Isles of Shae (modem: 305-321-2410), for a demo of many of the more popular third-party games and amusements.
